

VOTES AFFECT REAL FAMILIES

How your vote on a carbon tax will affect my family

In January we purchased a home for our family of four in Renton. This is a major expense for our young family, and we will have to carefully budget our paycheck as we adjust to our monthly mortgage payment.

A carbon tax imposed by the legislature will cost our family significantly as we face higher utility bills and fuel prices. The reality is the cost of everything we purchase now to live will be raised as businesses - from our local grocery store to where we shop for clothes - will be forced to pass the higher costs of doing business in Washington State on to us.

And what is the actual impact on carbon? Next to nothing at all.

You raising my taxes directly affects my family, and the life we are trying to build here in Washington State.
